Fashion

To find out what's in fashion for this season, a large audience attended a showing at the Minden Community Centre last week. Sunglasses will definitely be in vogue this spring and summer. Please see page 13.

Club 35 addition planned

Members will be deciding on June 7 whether or not to go ahead with the proposed expansion of Club 35 in Stanhope Township.

More than 40 people attended a meeting at the club last Wednesday when Bjorn Nielsen from the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation outlined some of the aspects of his ministry's capital conservation program and responded to questions from the floor.

Nielsen told the members at this meeting that the ministry would consider funding half the cost of the project being proposed. The rest would have to be raised by the club or through volunteer labour.

Located on Highway 35 at Halls Lake, Club 35 has been somewhat of a community centre for more than 40 years. Built in 1947, the large white building has been the site of thousands of card games and various other social functions.

Many of the present members, though, are seniors who find the stairway leading to the upstairs meeting room a challenge they would rather not have to face. This is one of the reasons the expansion is needed. The proposal is for a 24-by-30-foot addition that would include a kitchen, washrooms and a foyer. A rough estimate of the cost puts it in the neighbourhood of $100,000.

Nielsen said the club would have to be incorporated in order to qualify for the matching grants that are available through the ministry. Club president Murray Daniels said this does not pose a problem since the club already has a constitution and a full executive. Daniels said, though, that they will hold off on incorporating until it is decided whether or not they will go ahead with this project.

"Incorporation will be the first step if we decide to go

Cardiff council is trying to address "insufficient" fire protection in their municipality with some help from Monmouth township.

Presently, Cardiff buys fire protection from Monmouth, Bicroft and Burleigh and Anstruther but is investigating the possibility of having Monmouth establish a fire sub-station in Highland Grove.

Last Wednesday, Cardiff council met with Monmouth council and members of the Monmouth Fire Department, in Wilberforce to discuss the idea. A representative of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office was scheduled to attend but didn't show up.

Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley told the meeting that no area in his township is sufficiently covered by fire

They're back

Reporter Susan Wilson is back in the Highlands for the Summer and is already gathering information for stories for the first edition of This Week in the Highlands.

The popular summer paper has earned a reputation for its interesting features, strong photography and challenging contests. Many of the popular features will be returning this summer. These include the continuing series on historic churches of the highlands, and, of course, Spot The Shot.

Susan, who worked on This Week last summer, is looking forward to another good season in the Highlands. She has lined up a full slate of new story ideas to interest all reading tastes. And as a new series this summer, she will be interviewing a cottage owner from a different lake each week.

Decision to be made on June 7 ahead," said Daniels. That decision will be made at another meeting slated for June 7 at the club.

There was some discussion about the club's obligation to finance half the cost of the project. The possibility of borrowing was discussed, as well as the possibility that volunteers might contribute part of the work. Nielsen said volunteer labour has a dollar value that would be matched by the ministry. That value would equal minimum wage, he said.

Members also discussed the potential of applying for a federal New Horizons grant. They felt that a grant of up to $15,000 may be available to them if they apply.

Nielsen said the ministry would not provide matching funds for a New Horizons grant. However, it could be put against the overall cost of the project and the ministry would still consider funding half of the remainder.

"June 7 is the hour of decision," Daniels said at the close of the meeting. "We either move on or live with what we've got." If the decision is made to go ahead with the expansion, plans will then be drawn up and the club will go ahead with its incorporation.

End the waiting

Haliburton County residents and the board of education are soon going to have to face the hard truth that the funding we had hoped would build us a new addition to Minden's elementary school is not going to be handed over from this Ministry of Education.

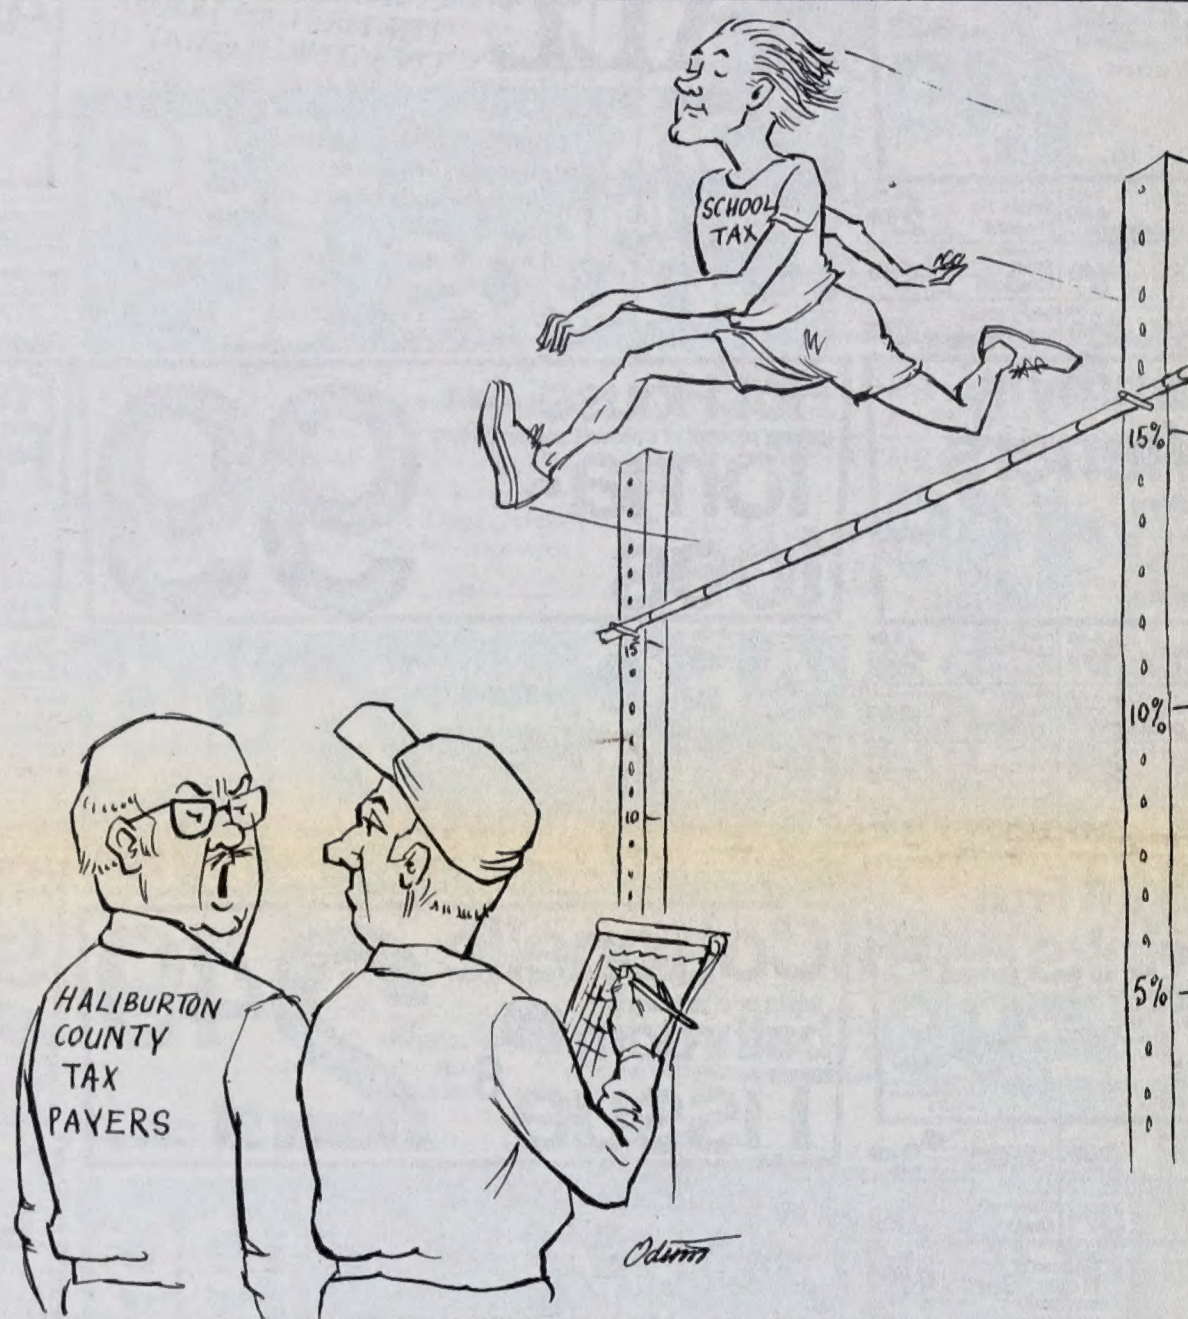

The board was just kidding itself last summer when it opened up classrooms in the former IGA building in Minden. They gambled that they could beat the ministry's mind-boggling formula for setting its priorities for capital grants. They entered into a three-year lease on the building, received approval for a three-year rezoning of the property and hoped to be into a brand new addition at the end of that time. However, it's now clear that three years just isn't going to be long enough.

The ministry came out with its list of spending priorities for the next three years, and Haliburton's name was glaringly absent. And in spite of the growing need for the additional classroom space here, there is little doubt that there are other areas of the province that are in worse shape. These are the areas that will be getting some of the ministry's money—not Haliburton.

It's hard to see any justice in this fact when it is so clear that our schools are also overcrowded. However, it's time to stop worrying about what we can't change and go ahead on our own without the grants.

If it's any consolation, we're not the only county in the province that is facing overcrowded schools. Victoria County, for example, is in a similar situation. However, they're well aware that Godot will arrive before the grants and are funding additions on their own.

It's time to stop waiting, Haliburton. We need the classroom space now. It seems the only way to get it is to pay the full shot. There'll be no government handouts this time around.

"NEW RECORD, EH? WELL, I THINK THIS CALLS FOR A STEROID TEST."

Chicken Little was right about the sky

Where is Chicken Little when we need him?

Chicken Little, you'll recall, was the petite pullet who, in nursery lore, skittered about the barnyard peeping THE SKY IS FALLING! THE SKY IS FALLING! — to anyone who would listen.

Turned out a few kernels of corn had fallen on Chicken Little's feathered dome and being the hypersensitive sort, Chicken Little had overreacted. The moral of the story: don't listen to alarmists — especially whackos who make ridiculously impossible claims.

Yeah, well ... that said, I would like to clear my throat here and inform you that

THE SKY IS FALLING! THE SKY IS FALLING!

And why shouldn't it be? Look at all the junk we sling up there. Mankind's been in space for less than

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

half a century and already we've turned it into a kind of unregulated dumpsite. The North American Aerospace Defense Command is an agency that keeps track of just about everything that wings through the heavens. According to Agency records there are some six thousand hunks of man-made litter out there ranging from functioning satellites to burned-out rockets all the way down to bags of garbage jettisoned by astronauts.

Sure, you say, but this is Space we're talking about here. Space is a little bigger than your average landfill site. We could chuck all the garbage we produce up there and it would never amount to anything more than a heap of flea poop in the Kalahari.

True — if we were talking about outer space. But those 6,000 objects aren't free floating. They're in orbit around the earth and orbiting objects still come under Newton's Law of Gravity: what goes up must come down.

Cosmos 954 did. Remember the Russian satellite that ploughed into the Canadian arctic a few years back? So far as we know, no harm done (although we still haven't heard from the caribou and ptarmigan) — but imagine the catastrophe if that Russian space jalopy had slammed into downtown Vancouver?

Celestial burial ground

When you think about it, it's amazing we've managed to avoid a major disaster with falling sky junk as long as we have. The only fatality I know of so far was a grazing Argentinean cow which was bonked by a rocket casing a few years back.

That's a record we probably won't be able to maintain. Plans are afoot to send more and more man-made trash into the ether. The French have a scheme to celebrate the 100th birthday of the Eiffel Tower later this year by firing a huge piece of inflatable abstract art into orbit.

A Florida company has applied for permission to launch an unlimited number of 300-pound satellites containing human remains — celestial burial urns, if you will, to be purchased by folks vain enough to, if not live for ever, at least to remain visible for a couple of millennia.

But don't waste your time clucking over the folly of Frenchmen and Floridians. When it comes to unwanted booty falling from the sky, we've got trouble right here in the Great White North. Last month a Canadian forces official revealed that more than 70 items from fuel tank caps to dummy bombs accidentally dropped off planes last year.

And that was just for military aircraft. Think of all the commercial flights criss-crossing through the skies over your head right now. Think of all those rivets and hinges and screws and loose panels...

I'll give you just one last bit of free-fall gossip to feed your paranoia, then I'll don my hard hat and be on my way: starting next autumn, the Soviets will be selling advertising space ... in space. Yes, for a paltry few hundred thousand rubles, publicity-hungry retailers will be able to advertise their widgets on the flanks of orbiting Soviet space stations.

I can hear it now ... a Chicken Little-like voice cheeping desperately in the not-too-distant future:

LOOK! UP IN THE SKY! IT'S A BIRD! IT'S A PLANE! IT'S...

A falling Lada logo.

Opposed to docks

Editor:

It has come to our attention, less than 2 days ago, that Mr. Wes Lytle of the Allsaw Bridge Marine on Lake Kashagawigamog in Minden Township plans to extend his facilities in a manner we consider detrimental to both the public safety and to the natural environment. These plans include three piers, each 88 feet long, with cross members approximately 34 feet across, with rental slip accommodation for approxximately 50 boats. Simply stated, this would, in our opinion, constitute the equivalent of a floating trailer park, with great potential for houseboats.

It is our understanding that Canadian Coast Guard approval has already been granted.

We hope you will publish our concerns so that the public may be made aware.

Acid Rain Report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of April 24.

April 24 - 1 mm mixed rain and snow, pH 5.1, from north eastern Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

April weather

Redmen win again at Kawartha meet

Track champs

The track and field team from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School travelled to I.E. Weldon last Thursday to take part in the five-team Kawartha West Track and Field Meet.

As in previous years, the Haliburton squad had an outstanding day, earning 34 first-place finishes, 40 second-place and 41 third-place finishes.

The next stop for Haliburton is the Kawartha meet being held at Peterborough's Trent University.

Following is a complete list of results from the performances

Running faster, jumping higher: Fraenzi Greber, far left, races to a third place finish in the Junior Girls 800 metre race with a time of 3.15.6.

Below, Diane Garbutt placed fourth in the Senior Girls discus throw with a toss that covered 23.5 metres.

The phones just never stop ringing

May 15 to 24 is National Tourism Week.

Winter or summer, the phones never seem to stop ringing at the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce office in Minden. The level of activity at the small office on Highway 35 has been steadily climbing over the past few years as more and more people look in this direction when planning their vacations.

What most people think of when they hear 'chamber of commerce' is hefty businessmen in full suits grinning and glad-handing at the annual chamber picnic in the park. Of course, there is no annual chamber picnic in the Highlands. And most of the 300 members would argue that they don't fit this stereotypical mold. Still, though, it's the business people who come to mind whenever visions of the chamber of commerce dance through one's head.

But back at the chamber office the phones are still ringing. People in Toronto or Niagara Falls or even Buffalo want to know when and what is what happening in the Highlands so they can book their vacations.

That small office with its sign welcoming all to the beautiful Haliburton Highlands is the front line for tourism in this county. The three people who staff the office often provide the first impression to potential visitors. The manner in which they answer the phone or respond to questions at the counter can sometimes make the difference between establishing a regular visitor to the county or discouraging them enough to look elsewhere for their vacations.

Marilyn Gibbons, Shirley Rapson and Cindy Barns are on the front lines of tourism in the Highlands. They are working to let the world know of all the beautiful attractions this area has to offer.

On the front lines of tourism in the Highlands are Chamber Manager Shirley Rapson, Cindy Rodley and Marilyn Gibbons. All three seem to have a special knack for dealing efficiently, with the public while also conveying a friendly, welcoming manner.

With its lush landscape, abundant wildlife, rolling hills and more than 600 lakes, the Highlands are second to none in physical attractions. But Rapson, Rodley and Barns all know that how they treat the travelling public is just as important as the physical attractions.

A U.S. study shows that 91 per cent of customers who receive bad service don't complain. They don't come back, either. And they're likely to tell at least nine people about it.

So, when the door swings open for another customer—as it does with astounding frequency at this office—they are prepared to deliver the customary royal treatment.

Rapson takes pride in the "comfortable atmosphere" of the office. She says she thoroughly enjoys her work. "It's an opportunity to help people and have a sense of fulfillment and gratification on a daily basis." She also has complete confidence in her co-workers. "I come in here with the knowledge that whatever takes place that day, whatever unfolds, will be professionally managed."

Often thought of as an office to serve only the travelling public, more local people are discovering what the office has to offer now that the Ministry of Transportation licensing is done here, says Rodley, who used to own Hilcrest Haven resort on Grass Lake. Area people have to come to the chamber office to renew their drivers licences, and often there is a short wait before they can be served. In the meantime, Rodley says they have a look around the office and usually discover there's a whole lot more to the chamber than they thought.

In addition to the racks of brochures and leaflets from area resorts, people will find all sorts of information about the main street businesses from the Board of Trade racks. Also of interest to area people is the rack of brochures from the resorts outside of the Highlands. These are kept as a service to residents who are planning their own vacations.

If you're looking for maps, there's no better place to turn. Rodley explains that there are all sorts of area maps, provincial road maps, and Canadian road maps. They have maps highlighting the cross country ski trails, snowmobile trail maps, topographic maps, Vanburen maps, street maps of the villages. The road maps available include those of the county, all the provinces and territories and a Canada wide road map.

Your Business

In the interest of enhancing the business climate in the Highlands, the Haliburton County Development Corporation is pleased to sponsor this informative business-oriented column. The material in this report was prepared by the Small Business Branch, of the Ontario Ministry of Industry, Trade & Technology.

MAKING SURE THAT TIME IS ON YOUR SIDE

Do you ever feel there are just not enough hours in the day to get the important things done? You're far from alone, since most owner-managers are beleaguered by time constraints. It's estimated that about 50% of the available time for small business owners is taken up by administrative tasks and daily mini-crises, leaving precious little time to focus on the bigger picture.

The keys to better time management are simple enough: get organized and exercise more self-discipline. What's tough is actually following through with them. "Most entrepreneurs are terribly disorganized. They procrastinate, shuffle papers, search for things; they have a whole potpourri of bad habits collected over a lifetime," says Harold L. Taylor, President of Time Management Consultants Inc. of Toronto.

For the past 15 years, Taylor has conducted in-house training sessions for companies and day-long seminars for business people on effective time management. His biggest challenge with entrepreneurs is to get them to relinquish control. "Entrepreneurs tend to be perfectionists who have trouble delegating because they believe no one can do the job better than themselves," says Taylor. "So you have people working long hours each day, sometimes even putting in 18 hours, and then they wonder why they're inefficient."

To get ahead in the time chase, Taylor urges owner-managers to become more productive within the confines of a conventional nine-hour working day. "Utilize the early mornings for priority projects," says Taylor. "About 75% to 85% of the people I've met in business are early morning people -- that's when they have peak energy levels. Don't procrastinate, do the harder tasks in the morning."

If you're bogged down by the paperwork, he suggests letting your mail accumulate and then spending a half hour or so each day on clearing up the correspondence and making sure the daily filing is done as well. In addition, the time management specialist urges you to set aside a so-called "quiet hour" when you can close your door and do work uninterrupted.

Despite initial costs, the new technology available for small business people could actually pay off in time and, down the road, dollar savings. The $2,000 approximate cost of a cellular phone, for instance, may seem daunting, but it can be a great efficiency booster, saving weeks of working time each year, says Taylor.

Above all, he insists it's important to take a systematic approach to time management. "You cannot develop self-discipline overnight," contends Taylor. "So don't be impatient. rather, do one or two things at a time until they become a habit."

A new lease on life

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

John Swanton is going to receive a gift from his sister that is more precious than most siblings can ever give—a new lease on life.

Swanton, a 35-year-old Kinmount resident, is suffering from kidney failure and his sister, Christine Hancock, age 36, of Oakwood, is donating one of her kidneys so Swanton can undergo a transplant.

The first indication of the ailment that Swanton got was last September when he took ill with symptoms resembling the flu.

"I was given a blood test and the doctor phoned me and told me to get to the hospital right away because my kidneys had failed," remembers Swanton. "I told him that he must have mixed up my blood with someone else's because I had the flu."

But Swanton's kidneys had failed and he was checked into Toronto's Sunnybrook Hospital to undergo a battery of tests. The doctors told him a kidney transplant would be the best course of action.

Swanton says the doctors aren't sure what caused his kidneys to fail and he says prior to September "I wasn't sick a day in my life." One possible explanation that doctors have offered for his kidney failure is infection from a viral disease, like strep throat, that he may have had as a child. Swanton was told the infection may have moved into his kidneys and "smoldered", slowly shrinking them over the years until they were no longer able to function. But this explanation is little more than a guess.

Before his trip to Toronto last fall, Swanton says he knew very little about kidney disease but that his trip to Sunnybrook was educational. "The hospital has a whole unit just for people on dialysis machines. A surprising number of people have kidney disease. It's unreal."

The far-reaching effects of kidney disease were brought home to Swanton by a conversation he had with a fellow patient in Sunnybrook. "I met this black guy who had kidney failure and had gone blind from it. He told me that it doesn't matter if you're yellow, white or black, young or old, kidney disease hits us all. I never forgot that."

When he learned that a transplant was his best chance for recovery, Swanton says he had many offers from family and friends willing to donate a kidney to him. Because of the possibility of his body rejecting the new kidney, he says the doctors wanted to match the donor's blood type with his own. Swanton's sister Christine and one of his brothers both offered to be donors and both shared his O positive blood type. Either one would have made a suitable donor but Swanton says the doctors decided his sister was the closest match.

The next step in the transplant process is to introduce some of Christine's blood into Swanton's system to see if his body produces antibodies. The production of antibodies would indicate that Swanton's immune system is trying to fight Christine's blood and would probably reject her kidney.

Doctors have told him the transplant operation itself is fairly routine and the greatest risk lies with the possibility of rejection.

If a suitable volunteer donor hadn't been found, Swanton says he would have had to wait two years to receive a kidney from a cadaver and that would have meant going on a dialysis machine. Dialysis is a process that purifies a patient's blood if his kidneys are no longer able to do so. The treatment requires the patient to be hooked to a machine three times a week for several hours at a time. Although there are dialysis machines available for use in a patient's home, Swanton says it would take him eight weeks to learn how to do the process himself.

So far Swanton has managed to stay off dialysis by maintaining a strictly controlled diet. The diet is one of the most difficult aspects of the disease, he says. "I used to be able to eat anything and now I can hardly eat anything. That's the hardest part of all." The level of poison, known as creatin, in a person's blood is supposed to be about 80. In the last week Swanton's creatin level has jumped from 944 to 1017. He is hoping to be able to undergo the transplant operation before the creatin level gets so high that dialysis is required.

'I have to go with the flow,' says John Swanton, who was surprised to find out his kidney was failing.

His condition has left Swanton weak and exhausted most of the time. He had to take time off from his job with the Ministry of Transportation from November to March. Swanton said he got depressed just sitting around the house so he's gone back to work for the past month but doesn't know how much longer he can handle it. "I have to go with the flow. There's not much I can do about it."

Swanton has been receiving support during his illness from his friend Robert Griffin, a West Guilford resident who has undergone three separate kidney transplants and who has been on dialysis treatment. "When I first found out my kidneys had failed I didn't know if I was going to die tomorrow or the next day or what was going to happen. Robert has been a great help. He tells me what to expect and what to look for, both the ups and the downs."

Griffin had his last transplant two years ago and Swanton says watching Griffin's recovery has helped. "When I see someone like Robert getting around it gives me a lot of encouragement."

After the transplant, Swanton says his sister will have to stay in recovery for about two weeks and he will be required to stay in the hospital for six to eight weeks. Even after his release from the hospital, Swanton will have to go to Toronto three times a week for blood tests so doctors can watch that his body doesn't reject the donor kidney. "It's going to be a big hassle," says Swanton.

Highland Grove fire station may be 'critical' in life saving protection. "Look at Highland Grove. It's 10 to 12 miles from the nearest fire department and the roads are not conducive to speed," he said. He proposed that a sub-station, operation as part of the Monmouth Fire Department, could be established in the hamlet. The building and equipment needed for the sub-station would all be provided by Cardiff.

The Highland Grove station would not be able to operate independently of the Monmouth department. It would provide a rapid first response to an emergency and begin to fight the fire while Monmouth equipment was on the way. The proposal calls for the Highland Grove station to house a single pumper truck which would not hold enough water for a sustained attack. The Monmouth tanker would have to come from Wilberforce with a supply of water. Bradley said early arrival of the Highland Grove truck could be "critical" in saving lives and property.

In the long-term, Cardiff is looking to set up similar sub-stations in other parts of the municipality, but Bradley said they would like to go ahead with the Highland Grove station if the two townships can come to a reasonable agreement.

With the Ministry of Municipal Affairs' current review of county government and the talk of amalgamation, Bradley said the situation in Cardiff could change in the next few years and that could affect the need for, and ability to provide, fire protection.

Bradley said that Cardiff township is so spread out it is difficult to provide fire protection coverage. He added that the recent cutbacks in Ministry of Natural Resources forest fire crews in the county and the increased responsibility given to the townships may cause more problems in providing protection.

Monmouth Fire Chief Max Walsh, said he's in favour of the Highland Grove station. He said under the current fire protection agreement between the two townships, if Monmouth is responding to a fire call in Highland Grove and a second fire breaks out in Monmouth he is required to pull his equipment and manpower out of Cardiff and respond to the emergency in his own municipality. "Then two houses burn down instead of one."

Monmouth has enough equipment to cover both townships, but Walsh said he lacks the manpower to respond to simultaneous fire calls in both Cardiff and Monmouth. He suggested that, if Cardiff could even establish a volunteer fire fighting force without equipment it would improve the situation.

Another advantage to a Highland Grove sub-station would be that the Monmouth department could call in mutual aid if needed. Only townships with their own fire departments can participate in mutual aid, and call in a neighbouring fire department to help out with an emergency situation. If Monmouth had a sub-station in Highland Grove, Walsh said he could call on Glamorgan or Dysart to provide coverage while his men and equipment were fighting a fire in Cardiff. Under the fire protection agreement, this request would not be possible.

Cardiff can afford to equip a sub-station but not its own fire department because the requirements are different. To start a fire department a township must have a fairly new class 'A' pumper truck and buy a minimum amount of equipment. Bradley said Cardiff can't afford to buy the truck, equipment and building necessary for its own department all in one shot. "It may come in five years, but you have to creep before you can walk," he said.

Cardiff is hoping to spend $60,000 to $70,000 on a sub fire station.

The township is looking to spend $60,000 to $70,000 over the next three years to establish the sub-station which includes the cost of a truck and building. To start a Cardiff fire department, the township would have to spend an estimated $500,000 said Bradley. To cover the township, such a department would need three trucks, a major fire station and two sub-stations.

To start the sub-station, Bradley said Cardiff could buy a pumper truck similar to the one Monmouth has at its Tory Hill sub-station. It's not a class 'A' truck but would provide adequate protection until the Monmouth department could arrive.

Walsh said the Tory Hill pumper is not class 'A' because it does not provide the water pressure necessary to fight high-rise fires but it will hold 1,000 gallons on water and is the "ideal unit" for fighting the average fire.

What the meeting needed, though, was input from the Fire Marshal's office to tell the councillors what is and isn't allowable. "You could have the truck, building and men and it won't mean a thing unless it's approved by the Fire Marshal's Office," said Walsh.

Another meeting is going to be scheduled to get input from a representative from the Fire Marshal.

Dorset school to get new equipment

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Students attending Dorset School will once again have playground equipment to use during recess.

Last fall the board of education undertook a review of playground equipment at all county schools and removed items considered to be unsafe. As a result the Dorset school playground was "decimated" in the amount of equipment removed.

Sherborne et al trustee Ed de Grosbois brought the school's situation to the attention of the board of education at the last meeting and reminded the trustees of a commitment the board made to replace the equipment.

Business Administrator Jim Bradley said he had been in contact with the Dorset Home and School Association and they had provided a list of playground equipment they felt was suitable. The list consisted of three items ranging in price from $2,200 to $3,600. The association volunteered to take care of installation of the new equipment at a saving of $1,500 to the board.

But Bradley said the school board has a policy requiring the installation of playground equipment be under warranty by the manufacturer. This policy is designed to ensure that the manufacturer is liable in case of injury due to improper installation.

The equipment will either have to be installed by the manufacturer or the installation will have to be supervised and warranted by the company, said Bradley.

The pieces proposed by the Home and School Association are smaller versions of the wooden play structure installed at Minden's Archie Stouffer Elementary School last summer. Bradley said the board has already budgeted $50,000 to upgrade school playgrounds around the county this year, so the Dorset school would not represent an added cost.

The school board has never spent money on playground equipment, according to de Grosbois, because the previous items had been bought by the Home and School Association. He said it's the board's responsibility to ensure that the 15 students who attend the Dorset school have safe equipment to play on. He also expressed concern that a slide, which was a memorial gift to the school, be incorporated into the new equipment.

In supporting the purchase of the $3,600 piece of equipment, de Grosbois said it would be easier to expand in the future than the other two and told the trustees that the Home and School Association and the Dorset Lion's Club were committed to adding to the playground. He said the playground not only served the school but the whole community as well.

Bradley advised the trustees that either the $3,600 piece of equipment or the middle unit, priced at $2,800 could be fitted with the memorial slide. The board agreed to give Bradley direction to investigate the purchase of the $2,800 unit.

Dysart trustee Tim Casey said he felt the board owed the Dorset school a letter of apology for leaving the playground with no equipment but de Grosbois said the reasons for removing the old equipment were understood and playground safety was a problem faced by all school boards because there are no standards to go by.

Archie Stouffer Elementary School principal McKay Brydon gratefully accepted a cheque for $1,500 from the Home and School Association last week. The money will cover about half the cost of a new sound system for the school. Presenting the enormous cheque are association treasurer Jennifer Ketner and president Cathy Arbor. The association is already making plans for the annual fun day which is scheduled for May 27. That is also the day when the raffle for a huge stuffed animal will take place.

HCSA confident support is growing

One of the first area businesses to offer financial support for the two track loop snowmobile trail, was Minden Home Hardware and Building Supplies. Using their new building as a backdrop, John Pentney, right, hands over a cheque for $500 in support of the association's efforts. HCSA director Mark Lester accepts the donation on behalf of the organization.

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association appears to have the support of area merchants in its drive to raise funding to construct a two lane trail loop in the central core of the Highlands. That was the message Mark Lester, HCSA director, had for the 20 individuals who attended a meeting April 28 in Minden.

The meeting was a follow-up to one held several weeks earlier, at which time the association revealed plans for the bulldozed corridor loop. The loop would provide quick access to other feeder trails, be easier to maintain, and could be groomed with less snow on the ground, the meeting was told. The loop system would also help ease the burden of traffic which is destroying the trails shortly after they are groomed.

The new loop would also cost $164,000 to complete. The HCSA is looking to area businesses, particularly those which benefit directly from snowmobiling, and local municipal governments, to provide the funding needed to carry out the construction of the two-track trail.

Speaking for the HCSA, Mark Lester told the April 28 gathering there had been a "tremendous response" since the first meeting. He said the business community in general seems to have swung in behind the

New awareness of personal health care

He will be required to take anti-rejection drugs for the rest of his life and doctors have warned that the drugs may have side effects such as weight gain, increased hair growth and the possibility of cancer. But it's a chance he is willing to take. "It's better than being stuck to a machine."

The last eight months have made Swanton more aware of the importance of health. "If you haven't got your health you've got nothing." He is also more conscious of other health risks now. He is bothered by things like the roadside spraying of pesticides by Ontario Hydro. He doesn't attribute his condition to this activity but, at the same time, realizes "all those chemicals can't be good for you."

The experience of going through the transplant process has also reinforced for Swanton the importance of people signing the organ donation portion of their driver's license. By signing the release, a person allows his healthy organs to be used in case he dies in an accident. "You think to yourself that so many people die in car crashes and their organs are no good to them any more. If more people would donate their organs a lot of people waiting for transplants would be better off."

What frustrates Swanton about his condition is that he will probably never know what caused his kidneys to fail. "I think back over the years about things

I've done and places I've worked and think, 'maybe that's what caused it.' People should be more conscious of what they do at home and at work. You never think about it until it's too late."

Because he was lucky enough to have his sister as a volunteer donor, Swanton says he more fully appreciates the importance of family. He also recognizes the role his friends played in offering support during the ordeal. "If not for my family and friends, I would have just given up."

project. There are also indications that some municipal governments will be providing assistance as well.

Lester also took the low attendance April 29, there were approximately 20 individuals at the meeting, as an indication of general approval. He noted the meeting had been billed as a chance for the business community to express concerns or dissatisfaction with the proposal. In addition to the phone calls of support the HCSA directors had received in the preceding weeks, he said the turn-out indicated the proposal had been accepted with little reservations.

He said the next few weeks would prove whether he was right or wrong, as the HCSA actively solicited the funds to support the project.

Asked what would happen if funding was not found to support the proposal, Lester said one of the options open to the HCSA would be for the organization to become private. He said this would mean the exclusion of all but HCSA members from the trails under their control. "We have the best trails, the best scenery, the best signage," Lester said. "On a good weekend 8000 sleds ride our trails." He said the HCSA claims to be the world's largest snowmobile club, but it is unfair to ask the 2575 members to support an effort which results in the trails being crowded with non HCSA members. (The HCSA is currently affiliated with the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs. Members of other OFSC affiliated clubs throughout the province are entitled to ride the HCSA trails through a reciprocal agreement reached last year. While the agreement created virtual province-wide snowmobiling possibilities, it has also put extreme pressure on areas with exceptional trails such as the Highlands.)

We can't, in good conscience, continue to collect fees from our own HCSA members and give them poor trails," Lester concluded. He said running the system as a private organization would be a major blow to the economy of the area which has prospered with the growth of snowmobiling. The spokesman admitted the option raises an entirely new set of problems and concerns, not the least of which is the headache of policing such a system, but he said if somehow is not found soon to accommodate the increasing number of snowmobilers who are attracted to the Highlands, it may be the only option open to the association.

On a more positive note, Dysart Councillor Brian Watts, told the meeting his municipality will be paying for the bull-dozer work required in its area. He suggested if every municipality in the county did the same, the HCSA would have little trouble installing the new loop system. Councillor Lewis Stevens of the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden told the meeting the proposal had been discussed at both the township council and the Minden BIA meetings. Both groups were enthusiastic about the proposal, but no decision had been made about participation.

Lester concluded by telling the audience that while the focus of his group may be directed at snowmobiling, they are aware they are part of a broader winter tourism scene. He said the HCSA is interested in seeing tourism grow in the Highlands. He said the sport does not hurt the environment and has been a major factor in boosting the off-season economy of the region. He again asked for the business community's help the further expansion of the trail system.

Misuse of Wilbermere Lake will be stopped

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Monmouth council has agreed to try and stop abuse of the Wilbermere Lake public access at the request of the lake's property owner's association.

Rick Pringle, a spokesman for the Wilbermere Lake Property Owner's Association, attended the last meeting of council and told the councillors that the letter the association had sent to the township in April had been "received in the wrong way."

In the letter the association told council that the public access to the lake was being used to wash cars and was being congested in the summer by people parking on the beach area. The letter was accompanied by a 34-signature petition asking council to allow the association to erect cement posts at site to block access to the lake by vehicles.

In response to the letter, council said it would not close the Earl's Road access because it was the only one on Wilbermere lake.

At last week's meeting, Pringle said the impression that the association wants to stop non-residents from using the lake is mistaken. He said, "a couple of people got carried away" in the association but not all members share that view. "It's a public area. We don't care who goes down to the lake."

Minden Midgets open season

The season opened yesterday for the Minden B&J Esso Midget fastball team as they met up with Lochlin at the Minden diamonds.

Coach Kevin Smith says there are 22 players in all trying out for the midget team, which practices on Monday and Wednesday evenings at the park.

Assisting Smith with the coaching this season are Gary Smith and Mark Davies. The team's next game is this Sunday at 2 p.m. when they take on Harcourt.

Smith is also organizing another three-pitch tournament for June 2 and 3 as a fundraiser for the team. There will be eight teams in the tournament. Anyone who has a team to enter should contact Kevin or Craig Smith at 286-3680.

Pringle said that the association wanted to try to prevent abuse of the access.

The area tends to get strewn with litter said Pringle. On one occasion he said three shopping bags of used diapers were picked up off the beach by local residents. People who abuse the area, "make it unusable for anybody at all," said Pringle. "We'd like to see some way to control it."

The idea of the cement posts was not to stop people from launching boats on the lake but to block people from parking on the beach.

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman suggested that no parking signs could be posted at the area but Pringle said he doubted that the signs would be obeyed.

Council decided to post permanent signs on the lake side of the road forbidding parking and camping on the access and restricting vehicle access to launching and picking up boats from the water. They will pass a by-law to enforce the signs and told Pringle that once the signs are in place, the OPP can be called in to deal with people breaking the by-law.

Pringle also suggested that if council would place a garbage can at the access he would be willing to take the litter to the dump.

Hiroshima visit sparks emotions

Misti Campbell is a Minden high school student who is spending a year in Japan as part of a Rotary International youth exchange program. Her participation in the program is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Minden. Misti has agreed to share some of her experiences with our readers through special reports to The Times. Her latest report was written April 19. (Friends of Misti may wish to drop her a note. Her current address is listed at the close of her report).

Hi! How are you doing?
I'm fine.

As I am writing this letter, I am sitting on the veranda at my third host house soaking up the sun. It's about 23 degrees C and beautiful out.

The 'city' I'm in now is part of the country, which you might think is small, but is actually the size of Peterborough (or larger!) I am really enjoying this family a lot. I now take the train to school, about 20 minutes in the morning and night.

Two days ago I went to Hiroshima with some other Rotary students in our district. We visited places like Hiroshima Museum, Castle, Hiroshima Mazda Plant and Miyajima Island.

≡ 2 7 1 -

invited us to stay at their Guest House for the two days which was really nice and we toured the plant as well. Miyajima Island was a beautiful place with Miyajima temple, a cable car to the top of the Mountain, and many shops and parks.

Hiroshima is very beautiful with many parks unlike any other cities in Japan.

When we went to the place under which the A-bomb went off you could almost hear the people screaming. From the pictures in the museum of the people wounded from direct radiation, black rain, etc. I couldn't go through the whole museum. I was so repulsed I ran through the museum and outside. I have never experienced such a feeling of fear as I did there. It's a kind of feeling you want to forget before you see it. But you can't. I never realized just how terrible or powerful an atomic bomb, or any bomb for that matter, is.

All the other Rotary students, too, felt fear in Hiroshima and we were glad to get back to Osaka in a way.

In a few days, I'll be going golfing and to a hot spring which should be relaxing. But for now it's back to school, which started April 10. I'm almost glad to be back.

Well, I gotta go now - talk to you later!

Love,
Misti.

A special appreciation night for former Snowdon Township Reeve Bob Vlck is scheduled for this Saturday at the Haliburton Legion.

The Times

Second Section

The two mens soccer teams play their first home games this Sunday at the Minden field. The first game starts at 12:30 p.m.

A challenging, gentle game

Turnips and butterflies are all a part of this lopsided game they call lawn bowling. In Minden, they've been rolling bowls for almost 10 years.

For almost 10 years now, 'jack' and the boys have been getting together at the quonset hut by the Minden Fair Grounds for some good, clean competitive fun.

The game's lawn bowling. Jack's the target. And the people who make up the Minden Indoor Lawn Bowling Club say it's a ball.

Lawn bowling is a gentle sport, they say, and for this reason there is no age barrier.

To play the game, you roll a "bowl", not a ball, in an attempt to get as close as possible to the "jack"—a white ball about 90 to 120 feet away.

The bowls are oval shaped with a heavy bias on one side. Bowlers roll the bowl, angling it outwards, keeping the weighted side inwards. And when it starts to slow down, it will curve towards the target.

The Minden Lawn Bowling Club plays this sport indoors on special lawn bowling carpets. The game is more like curling than bowling. You can put up a guard, but it's always possible to sneak past the blocking bowls and curve in to be closest to the jack. It's anyone's game until the last bowl is bowled, since hitting the jack can totally change the complexion of an end.

It's plain to see that people who play this game thoroughly enjoy it. Unlike curling, where sweepers have some control over the rock after it's released, the bowl is all on its own when it leaves your hand. That doesn't stop lawn bowlers from coaxing the bowl along, though. In fact, it's almost essential to talk to your rolling bowl.

"Woah baby."

"Get out of there."

"Come on in."

If you roll it the wrong way so it wobbles and dies half way to the jack,

Ross Farr, the president of the Minden Indoor Lawn Bowling Club, got in a bit of practice last week while at the club making plans for the start of the new season. Offering advice are the club's first president Cy Heal and the second president Don Sinclair.

it's called a turnip or butterfly.

It's a challenging, yet gentle game. Some people with bad backs find they can't bowl in an alley, but they can here. Most of the 80 members of the Minden Indoor Lawn Bowling Club are senior citizens, though they would like to encourage more young people to get involved in the game. New members are always welcome.

This year marks the 10th anniversary of the club. The first discussions regarding the possibility of starting an indoor lawn bowling club in Minden were held in the summer of 1978. A field representative for the federal New Horizons program and Reg Booth, the Reeve of Minden, attended the meeting and gave enthusiastic support to the idea. At that time it was thought the lawn bowlers and the curlers might share a new facility being planned as an addition to the arena.

In order to get a grant from New Horizons, 10 directors had to be appointed to be responsible for donated money. Ten interested people volunteered their services, with Cy Heal becoming the first president of the club.

Since having an indoor green was a fairly new idea in Canada, contacts with successful clubs in England, Scotland and Canada were made to find out how this would best be accomplished.

By June 1, 1979, the proposed new curling club had not yet been approved, so with the encouragement of Minden's new Reeve, Sinclair Nesbitt, it was decided that plans would be made to start the club at its present location.

On June 16, 1979, on the lawn at Mr. and Mrs. Don Sinclair's home, the first instructions in lawn bowling were given by James W. Burton to about 25 prospective members.

The official opening of the Lawn Bowling Club was held on August 18, 1979, at 2:30 p.m. Thus, this August will be the club's 10th anniversary. The club now has an active membership of more than 80.

Anyone interested in trying the game should contact Ross Farr, club president, at 286-1578. The official opening for this summer's season is May 17 at 7:30 p.m. The club is located on Bobcaygon Road in Minden below the Fair Grounds.

Construction of school addition ready to start

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The final roadblock in the construction of the new learning resource centre for the high school has been cleared and work on the addition is set to begin this week.

The board of education's Business Administrator Jim Bradley told the trustees at the last meeting that "last minute" approval for the project had finally come from the Ministry of Education and the building agreement with the Easton Brother's construction company has been signed.

The school board received its funding allocation for the $1.2 million project in 1987 but it has taken until the end of this April to clear all the stages of ministry approval. The province is contributing $609,000 to the cost of the work, which is about half.

The 3,500-square-foot learning resource center will include a library, seminar room and audio-visual room. Also included in the project is the addition of one more classroom, an addition for storing gym equipment and renovations to the administration area. The existing library will be converted into two special education rooms. Bradley says the work should be completed by the end of 1989.

As a result of the addition of the gym storage facility the two portables on the west side of the school had to be moved. At the meeting the trustees considered several options regarding the relocation of the two units.

One of the portables is being moved onto the parking lot at the back of the school. Ministry regulations require that portables be at least 40 feet off of the main building and at least 20 feet apart. Bradley said that moving both portables onto the parking lot would leave virtually no room for cars.

The trustees considered three options for the placement of the second portable. It was suggested that the unit could be moved to

The Club 35 Pot Luck Supper on April 29th was well attended. Euchrescores were - 50-50 - Fran Clark, most lone hands - Olive Daniels, high lady - Shirley Bunker, high man - Ken Wallace, and others - Michelle Walker, Bill Cowen and Mary Schad. The winners of the May 1st Club 35 euchre are as follows - 50-50 - Melissa Hampson, most lone hands - Thelda Weston, high lady - Lois Rusk, high man - Jim McCarthy and others - Rhoda Woolner, Jack Gregory and Hazel Gregory.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Emma Stutt, Bill Gartshore, Sydney West and Terry Spooner whose funerals were last week.

Ken and Carol Cox and girls and Mary Cox spent several days visiting with Ethel and Jack Cowan and Reg and Anne Cowan at Phepston.

We heard that there were Book Exchanges at the Western Branches of Haliburton County Libraries and this was last week;

drop in at your branch.

Bessie Burk reports having had T.L.C. for all the time since coming home from hospital and sure appreciates this.

At the Lochlin Centre Euchre games on May 2nd winners were - lone hands - Mervin Gilbert and others Ruth Kellett, Ruby Francis, Bruce O'Brien and Carl Francis with another night of cards on May 16th.

One day last week Jean Lacey had as her guests

May Hill of Toronto and Peggy Richardson and her son Kevin from Vancouver.

All good wishes to Les and Lil Alton who celebrate their 40th Wedding Anniversary on May 17th.

Out of secret darkness sprang

These hyacinths so fair,
A holy incense, wondrous strong,

Their perfume fills the air...

A dream come true,
white, red and blue -

To lift my spirit with a song.

Anon

Good birthday wishes to John Hulbig on his birthday last week and one lady at Hyland Crest Home Ida Schell on May 10th.

At the weekly euchres at Minden Legion on April 26th winners were - for lone hands - Martha Mansfield, Esther Lee, and others - Hilda Harrison, Bea James, Mary Cassidy and Marie Dennie.

Mr. and Mrs. Norm Lee attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Gordon Lee at Norwood, last week. Sincere sympathy goes to the family.

We noted the new sign in front of Agnes Jamieson Gallery and it looks very attractive. After May 7th there will be "Images in Oil" by Henk De Beer, and we saw some of these very excellent artworks.

Just heard of one lady new on the sick list with good wishes to Dorothy Walker; get well soon.

True Happiness

A newspaper conducted a contest in an effort to get the right answer to the question: "Who are the happiest people on earth?"

In due time it published the prize-winning answers:

A craftsman or artist whistling over a job well done.

A little child building sand castles.

A mother bathing her baby after a busy day.

Note the absence of any reference to money, millionaires, popularity and fame, high rank or high office.

Lucie Dubovik

Coming up are Shuffleboard Group at Common Room May 11 at 7:30 p.m. and St. Paul's Anglican Card Group will finish off season with a pot luck at noon May 18th.

St. Paul's Card Party winners for this week include - high lady - Hilda Harrison, low lady - Marie Denny, high man - Ida Holmes, low man - Edna Trumbull and lone hands - Shirley Elcome.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Snow's retreat uncovers expanse of brown stubble

by Marion Strebig,
Federation of Ontario Naturalists

What sort of landscape has the melting snow uncovered around your home? Probably an expanse of brown stubble and some carefully pruned bushes confined to edged beds. There is the large Spruce set squarely in the middle of the yard. But it is all a little boring, without surprises of variety in vegetation or terrain. And yet you probably enjoy spending time in more natural settings, walking in woods and meadows.

Spring, like the start of a new year, is a good time to make resolutions. Why not change your personal landscape a little this year, and, in the process, maybe your style of gardening. After all, less use of the power mower and a little more hand weeding might be good for your figure; and getting rid of lawn sprays will benefit all living things, including you. The earth will pullulate with earthworms, the garden will swarm with bees, butterflies and ladybugs. This kind of garden won't be to everyone's taste. For some, neatness is compulsive; everything must be symmetrical. Nature is seldom tidy; things sprawl and climb. However, if you would rather listen to the evening song of the Robin or the House Wren instead of the roar of the power mower, maybe you're ready to make a change, and to be, like nature, a little more relaxed. Take a good hard look at your lot.

Maybe there is a strip along a back fence or on a slope where you could seed some wildflowers and forget about mowing. One seed company in Ontario is putting out native seed mixtures this spring. Try a packet and see what happens; it can't look any worse than it does now. Maybe you'll be pleasantly surprised. You may get some interesting self-seeders in the unmowed portion. Butterflies should certainly be one splendid side-effect of introducing native wild flowers; the Swallowtail likes umbelliferous plants like Queen Anne's Lace and Dill and the Monarch will seek out the wild Asters, which are genetic parents of the Michaelmas daisies.

One very difficult thing to do in creating more natural space is to change one's mindset about what constitutes a weed. The much maligned Dandelion provides, on unsprayed land, nutritious greens and, gone to seed, food for Goldfinches and other finches and many kinds of Sparrows. Besides, it is really quite attractive, and an early and vigorous bloomer. How often have you seen the road verges which had been brilliant with Ox-eyed daisies, Fireweed and Buttercups, mowed or sprayed relentlessly because they're all weeds to the roads department. What mania drives us to turn open space into deserts? How much pleasure that fence corner, so hard to get at with the mower, would give in September if it glowed with Asters and Goldenrod.

Another way in which you might make your yard more like a natural woodlot is to replace dead or delicate ornamental shrubs or small trees with sturdy and attractive native species. Most nurseries now carry a selection of these. Many species like Nannyberry, Red Osier Dogwood and Sumach have ornamental fruit which also attracts birds. In what wet corner a clump of White Cedar would provide colour in the winter, fragrance in the heat and cover and food for birds. Or you may have an unused back corner or a high fence where you could allow the native Wild Grape to twine and curl itself into a dense tangle likely to attract a nesting Catbird in summer or provide shelter for a Sawwhet owl in February.

Think about birds - Cardinals, Thrushes, Yellow Warblers; consider butterflies - Mourning Cloak, Red Admiral, Great Spangled Fritillary; or insects like the Praying Mantis and the Lacewing. Now look at your yard. What wildlife have you seen there in the past? Nature only needs a little encouragement. A little attention to what you plant, a little less tidying and no chemical herbicides or pesticides and who knows what kind of a little eden you could create.

The FON has produced a very useful pamphlet called Backyard Birdwatching. This includes suggestions for making your yard more attractive to wildlife. If you would like this free pamphlet please send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 355 Lesmill Road, Don Mills, Ontario, M3B 2W8 - Attention: Marion Strebig.

Residents enjoy musical night

Thursday, April 28 was the April birthday tea. The Lochlin U.C.W. served the lunch and a delicious Birthday cake. After the tea, we had a sing song. It was all appreciated very much.

Since the caller for bingo didn't come, Alice Todd took over and called for us.

At 1 p.m. Mrs. Coleman came for Bible study from Luke chapter 14.

Marjory Renick and Mrs. Warburton came at 2 p.m. to lead a Hymn Sing. Thank you for an enjoyable hour.

In the evening Bill Payne and his band came to play music and sing. The Residents surely enjoy them. A couple of them have been on holidays this winter, but they were all here Friday night. Bill Payne carried on, on his usual night while they were away for which we are all very thankful.

Saturday, Denise Teasdale from Peterborough called on Mrs. Teasdale (her husband's Mother) and Ruby Lewis and myself.

senior league

by Winnifred Barnum

I was pleased to see her.

Mrs. Bob McBrien from the Minden Gospel Church came to visit Lucy Burgess and her daughter-in-law Mary Burgess. They were very happy to see her.

Sunday May Horsley spent the day with her daughter Marion and her husband Floyd at West Guilford.

Sunday night Mr. Burgess held the Service in the Chapel and Florence Johnson played the organ. This is a great help for Mr. Burgess, "also we singers".

Monday we had fun and fitness in the morning and crafts in the afternoon.

Terri Lynn showed us a film on Don Messer and his Canadians. Marj Osborne and Charlie Chamberlain were singing in it.

Reverend Dawn Gilby

of Kinmount Anglican Church had service and Communion Tuesday morning in the Chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masson from Peterborough were here to visit Verna Jarvis and take her for a drive. She enjoyed both very much.

Monday Ruth Ward of Haliburton and Edith Schram of Whitby came to visit May Horsley, Ina McGuire, Ruby Lewis, Mrs. Curry, Agnes Houghton and myself. We were all very happy to see them.

Brant and Max Sisson came Tuesday to see their sisters May and Ina.

Violet Thornett is back with us again after a visit with her daughter.

Tuesday, we played a new game (new to us) called Pictionary. It was different and we enjoyed it. The art work was great.

Congratulations to Margaret Le Boutillier. She had a birthday on April 29. Happy belated birthday wishes Margaret.

Lilly Hogg has returned to Hyland Crest from Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay. Welcome home Lilly.

Pastor Murray held a Service in the Main Lounge on Wednesday evening.

HIGHWAY 121, IN THE VILLAGE OF HALIBURTON

Minden OPP Notes

During the week of April 24 to 30, officers of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated 56 general occurrences and six accidents with five persons injured.

ACCIDENTS

Two single-car accidents this week resulted in injuries to five people and considerable damage to the vehicles.

The first accident happened on April 25 after 5 p.m. on Highway 35 near the Frost Centre. Arthur Wong, 56, of Scarborough was driving southbound when he apparently dozed off. His car crossed the highway and rolled in the ditch. Wong and two passengers in the car received minor injuries. Wong has been charged with careless driving.

The second accident happened on April 30 at about 1 a.m. on the Elephant Lake Road. Scott Caldwell, 19, of Mississauga rolled his car while rounding a curve. Both Caldwell and a passenger were taken to the Haliburton hospital with serious injuries. Charges are pending as the investigation continues.

CAR FIRE

Frenda Davis, 25, of Keswick was driving southbound on Highway 35 south of Minden at about 10:30 p.m. on April 28 when the vehicle caught fire.

The fire was the result of an engine fault. Police arrived to investigate, found Davis seemingly impaired and charged her with impaired driving and refusing to supply a breath sample.

ARREST

Csaba Kovacs, 18, of the Minden area, was arrested on an outstanding warrant for break, enter and theft over the weekend.

The arrest followed an investigation in downtown Minden when the window at CHACE place was broken. As a result, Kovacs has been charged with mischief and was held for a bail hearing in Lindsay, where he was released on conditions. More charges are pending as the investigation continues.

THEFTS

—An aluminum Sports Pal canoe, mustard coloured, was taken from the Big East Lake area. The name Joli-George was printed on the bow of the canoe.

—A quantity of sleeping pills and nerve pills were stolen from the Good Medical Centre in Haliburton Village.

—Two sets of binoculars, one a Bushnell and the other a USSR brand, were stolen from the Kashagawigamog Lake area.

—A Stihl chainsaw with an 18 inch bar was taken from the Kawagama Lake area.

—Found in the Kawagama Lake area was a bicycle.

DRIVING TIP

Bike riders and walkers are back using the roadways. Drivers are reminded to be vigilant and use caution when passing. Bike riders are reminded to keep to the right side of the road and travel with the flow of traffic. Walkers are reminded to walk facing traffic. In both cases, light coloured clothing should be worn at dusk.

BOATING TIP

How is your boat? Do you have it properly licenced and the numbers plainly visible on the bow? Do you have the proper safety equipment for the type of vessel?

Common equipment required in all vessels including canoes, row boats, paddle boats and power boats is a certified life jacket for each person on board, mechanical sound signalling device, oars with oar locks or paddles, a bailing bucket, and if used at night proper lights.

More information on this is available in the Canada Safe Boating Guide which is available at most marinas or the OPP detachment.

Victoria Street School will get the spare portables

the Victoria Street School, to the campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College or to the smoking area at the high school to be used as storage space.

In explaining the three possibilities, Director of Education Stuart Baker said it was preferable to use the portable for students rather than for storage or board use. He said Victoria Street School had lost one portable that had been used for physical education to make room for an additional class. By moving the portable from the high school to Victoria Street, Baker said it might allow the reintroduction of some indoor physical education activities. He indicated there is room for the unit in two locations at the elementary school.

Another possibility suggested by Baker was that the portable could be moved to Sir Sandford's campus.

The school board currently rents space from the college to house primary students at the cost of $12,000 a year. Baker said that if the portable was made available to the college the board might be able to negotiate a reduction in the rent paid to Sir Sandford.

It was decided by the board that Victoria Street School would be the best location for the second portable so that it may best benefit the students.

The board has received an estimate of $3,000 to move the portable. Bradley told the trustees the portable is in "fairly rough condition" and he wouldn't want to try to move it too far.

The portables were moved away from the school last week so work on the footings for the gym storage could begin and Bradley said one of the units will probably be transported to Victoria Street School sometime this week.

Minden pioneers now on videotape

The Minden Museum Committee met on April 26 to prepare for the new season under the leadership of chairman Jean Lacey.

The museum will open on Saturdays commencing May 20 and will open six days per week in July and August. They will meet at the museum on May 12 to arrange their summer displays. If you have heritage materials you are willing to lend for current displays please contact Jean Lacey at 286-1559.

The museum wishes to hire a mature student for the summer.

John Hulbig recently interviewed Pearl Barry, a Minden pioneer who graciously sang five songs while she played her guitar. Mary Windover, another Minden pioneer, was recently interviewed by Jean Lacey. The public may view these VCR tapes at the museum. Several more Minden pioneers are being videotaped ready for our summer displays.

If you haven't already taken out your 1989 membership at a cost of $2 please drop it off to Museum, Box No. 69 or contact Nancy Garbutt. You will receive museum newsletters and will help our museum to develop.

Work on the Bowron Homestead commences on Tuesday, May 23rd. Come out and join us as we help George Hewitt to chink, plaster and lay our floors in the Bowron Homestead. We shall then add a summer kitchen. Many hands make light work so call Stan Hill at 286-3969 to volunteer your help.

If you are spring cleaning and have items for the museum attic treasures sale on July 8, please contact Freida Hulbig at 286-1319, or Henry Webert at 286-2387.

Doreen Berry is continuing to collect and display heritage pictures for our museum. Please contact Doreen if you have old photos from this area which we can copy for our collection.

Drop in to visit your museum often this season and bring your friends.

Of consuming interest

Year after year, after government, Canada has built up a debt that now totals over 320 billion dollars. So that today, one third of every tax dollar is wasted just paying the interest on this massive debt. Let's stop short-changing ourselves. We've got to deal with the debt now. That way we can guarantee our social programs in the future. And that's in everybody's best interest.

The best dining out in Toronto

When we were just little folk, there were only two places to eat out in Toronto, and to paraphrase someone who said it first, "one was Murray's and the other wasn't". And that's not that long ago.

How times have truly changed! Witness The Joanne Kane's Toronto Restaurant Guide now available through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

Kane is the restaurant critic for the Globe and Mail and she has listed well over 100 of the top rest-

library corner

by Joel Levis

aurants in Toronto for your consideration.

For each entry, she provides the basic gastronomic information which includes hours, reservations, credit cards, and then draws you into the review with such elegant and appropriate little appetizer as "A fine cook in a tacky little diner", "Culturally bizarre but edible", "Very popular, very mediocre" and our own favourite "Bland enough to get elected" which refers to the Legislative Dining Room! The reviews themselves tend to be light, easy to read and very informative. There is even guidance by geography, lunch and/or dinner, even open/closed Sunday. In short, a gem.

Maybe your favourite wasn't included - ours wasn't - but perhaps we can all learn of a "new favourite".

Available through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library ... of course!

Seniors Guide lists various services

by Doreen Hawman

As a senior are you aware of all services and programs available to you?

The 1989 issue of the "Guide for Senior Citizens" published by the office for Senior Citizen Affairs, provides a reference to the wide range of services and programs available to senior citizens in Ontario. Federal programs and services can be found in the booklet called "Seniors Guide to Federal Programs and Services".

While some services for seniors become available automatically, many others require that you complete an application. For that reason it would be to your advantage to secure copies of these guides to ensure that you are receiving every benefit available to you.

To pick up a copy of each of the guides contact your nearest Information Centre. In Haliburton the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., and is open Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733.

For residents of the Minden area, the office situated in the Municipal Building, Milne Street, is open every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100.

Surrounded by budding instrumentalists, Wendy Ellis plays the piano during a musical concert Thursday evening at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. The musicians formed a "bush band" which provided accompaniment for one of the grade five class presentations. Sharing the musical fun are fiddler Matthew Ellis, guitarist Dennis Woods and other grade five pupils. The board and stick covered with bottle caps in the background is a homemade musical instrument called a "lagerphone". The caps are lightly tacked to the wood and as the instrument is tapped on the ground, the caps give off a sound similar to that of a tamborine. Wendy is the wife of Australian exchange teacher Peter Ellis who is spending a year at the Minden Elementary School. His down-under influence was obvious in the musical presentations. Not only did the students discover some new instruments, the musical numbers included Waltzing Matilda and Tie Me Kangaroo Down. Music and dance presentations were also made by students in the grades 4 and 6 class at the school.

A Coleman® cooler big enough for a house!

New 9+ S.E.E.R. Coleman® Cooler Air Conditioner

Wouldn't it be great if the trusty Coleman® cooler (ice chest) were big enough to cool a whole house? Its simple design, economical cost and efficiency are hard to beat when you have to cool off a watermelon or case of soft drinks.

That's why Coleman's Residential Heating and Air Conditioning Division didn't have to look far for a "role model" or a namesake, when they set out to build a new air conditioner with quality, efficiency and an affordable price.

The new 9+ SEER Coleman® Cooler Air Conditioner* uses advanced design and production techniques. That translates to a lower purchase price, quicker and simpler installation, faster service when needed, and...Coleman quality.

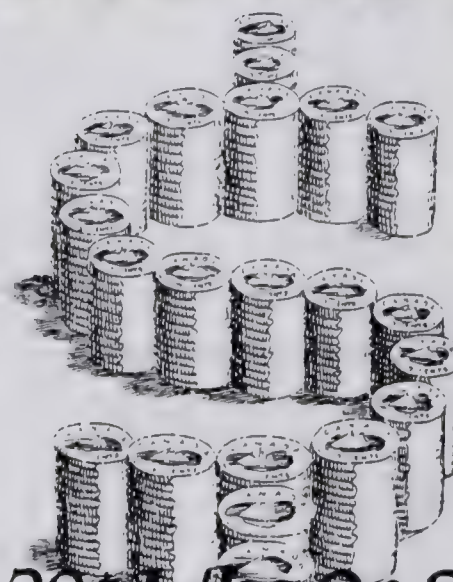

*Ratings will vary depending upon size and model purchased.

Senior volunteers receive awards from the province

by Donna Bailey

Haliburton County Home Support Services wishes to extend "Congratulations" to our Senior Volunteers in Service who received awards from the Ministry of Community and Social Services for their awards from the Ministry of Community and Social Services for their contribution to volunteer service. They received their awards on April 21 at Kingston. The recipients were: Adele Barnes, Victoria Agnew, Elsie Bursey, Helen Henderson, Alice Martin, Georgina Deeks, Cy Yeomans and Bob Hollobon.

Home Support Services held a Volunteer recognition day April 11, at the Drop-In Centre, which adjoins the Home Support offices in Haliburton, and at the Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home, auditorium on April 12. It was our way of saying "Thank You" to our volunteers who donate their time and energy to our different programs. Friendly Visiting, Fone-A-Friend, Meals On Wheels, Wheels To Meals, Transportation, Home help, Alzheimers Support, Social/Recreational programs, Trips, The Emergency Response System, and the Hearing Test/Infra Red System.

As part of the training offered to our volunteers, Home Support Services have held four training workshops in the past few months. A basic St. John's First Aid course was offered in February and again on May 1, 8 and 15. Also, a Heart Saver course was offered in March and April of this year. We plan to repeat these workshops in the fall.

We are now holding a workshop for Friendly Visitors, on how to deal with some of the problems you may encounter when visiting persons with Alzheimers. This workshop will be on May 11, from 10 a.m. till noon in the Drop-In Centre. The Drop-In Centre is located with our main office on Maple Street in the village of Haliburton. If you are interested and wish to participate, please call the office at 457-2941 to register.

We encourage our volunteers and anyone interested in becoming a volunteer with our organization to participate in these workshops. They are offered at no cost to our volunteers, and they are an excellent opportunity to learn a new skill, and meet new people.

We depend on volunteers to make our programs possible. We need caring individuals who would like to help their neighbours by donating some of their time to one of our programs. We are in need of persons to do Friendly Visiting in the Haliburton area as well as a convenor for the Friendly Visiting program. We also need volunteers and a convenor for our Alzheimers Support Program. If you can help, please call the office at 457-2941. We are open Monday to Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thank you.

Canada Post Corporation

"IT'S A DEFINITE ADVANTAGE FOR US."

Jeff Scott, Alma, Ontario.

Businessman Jeff Scott is just one of a growing number of rural Canadians benefiting from increased access to postal products and services through a Retail Postal Outlet.

Retail Postal Outlets across the country offer Canada Post customers more convenience. As part of a local business, they are located close to other services in the community. Retail Postal Outlets are more accessible than former Post Offices. On average, hours of postal service operation in communities with Retail Postal Outlets have more than doubled. Now thousands of rural Canadians can buy their postal products and services on weekends and in the evenings.

AND WE'RE GROWING

In the next few years, the number of retail outlets in rural Canada will grow by 40 percent. Every week, more and more rural Canadians are enjoying the benefits of a Retail Postal Outlet.

*Canada Post Corporation is delivering on its promise.
We're in rural Canada to stay.*

Major changes to fishing regulations

April 29, 1989 marks the opening of the fishing season in Algonquin Provincial Park (fishing division 13). This date also marks the implementation of six major fishing regulation changes for Algonquin Park. These changes are an important part of the District Fisheries Management Plan. They are aimed at rehabilitating the trout stocks along Highway 60 and maintaining or improving the quality fishing that now exists in the rest of the park. All these regulations received support during the public consultation process held from 1984 to 1986.

Four of the new regulations will apply to all anglers park wide. They are:

1. Possession of live baitfish is prohibited. Live crayfish, leaches and worms are still legal in all lakes except the special "catch and release" brook trout lakes. This will help reduce the spread of unwanted disease and minnow species.

2. Possession of live or dead Lake Herring (also called Cisco) is also prohibited. This is expected to relieve pressure on larger, spawning age Lake Trout.

3. The opening and closing dates for both Lake and Brook Trout will be the same, the last Saturday in April to September 30, 1989. This will create a consistent closing with the surrounding areas.

4. There are reduced catch and possession limits for both Brook and Lake Trout. The number of trout you may catch per day (or have in your possession at any time) is limited to 5, no more than 2 of which can be Lake Trout. Splake are to be considered Brook Trout for the purpose of catch limits in Algonquin Park.

The remaining regulation changes are area specific and anglers should check with the Algonquin Park District office for details. Firstly, there is a "slot limit" for Lake Trout in the following Highway 60 corridor lakes of, Smoke, Canoe, Tea, Bonita, Lake of Two Rivers, Whitefish and Rock. This means that in these lakes, you may keep Lake Trout shorter than 40 cm. (16 inches) or longer 56 cm. (22 inches). Lake Trout caught between these measurements must be immediately released. The aim of the slot limit is to protect a large portion of spawning age fish in the corridor lakes where the fish stocks have been depressed by overfishing.

Lastly, there are eight park lakes (Harry, Rence, Welcome, Scott, Westward, Stringer, Animoosh and Little Crooked) set aside for a new kind of high quality Brook Trout fishing. The number of trout you may catch and possess at any time is limited to two. Only unbaited artificial lures are permitted for angling. There will also be a minimum size limit applied on five of the eight lakes.

For further details and free brochure on all the above regulations, please contact the Algonquin Park

District office at Box 219, Whitney, Ontario K0J 2M0. Be informed and show your commitment to preserving the quality of fishing in Algonquin Park.

Police warn of fraudulent phone solicitations

Residents in a number of areas of the province have recently been subjected to misleading or fraudulent telephone solicitations, and the Ontario Provincial Police would like to alert citizens to the common elements of these schemes.

Typically, these telephone solicitors advise people they have won a prize, or have an "opportunity" to do so. Usually there is some purchase to be made before the prize can be collected. The caller suggests that payment for the product or service being purchased be made by credit card, and asks for a credit card number. Once the number is given, the customer is immediately charged the agreed-upon amount.

"The majority of these types of telephone solicitations are designed to mislead potential customers - to make them believe they're going to get something at a much better price than anywhere else," said Insp. Ken Christopherson of the OPP's anti-rackets branch.

"The value or nature of the prize, or the requirements for claiming it, may be misrepresented," said Christopherson. "What you think you heard and what was actually said may be two different things, but even if what you heard was exactly what was said, it's difficult to prove misrepresentation."

A customer's first indication of a problem may be his or her credit card statement. Persons who believe they've purchased a bargain holiday from a so-called "travel agent", for example, may find their credit card statement indicates the money went to a restaurant, car rental agency or some other business. This is probably because the telephone solicitor has no arrangement with a credit card company, and is using an imprinting machine belonging to some other business to process orders.

These telephone scams usually involve no more than a few hundred dollars each, but throughout North America, it's estimated they bring in hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

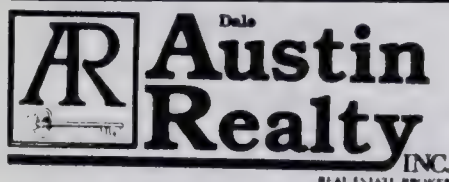

"There are two key rules to remember when dealing with telephone solicitors," Christopherson said. "Never reveal your credit card number over the phone, and if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is."

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

News from Staannworth Court

All that I am or hope to be I owe it to my Mother.

- Abr. Lincoln

Don't forget Mum on Mother's Day.

Our April Residents' meeting was chaired by Holly C. A pot luck "cold" supper was agreed upon for April 27. A bake sale was decided upon for May 20. Further discussions were to follow.

We welcome home Florence Lindsay from Ajax hospital, and Fern Donnelly from Minden hospital. Our get well wishes go out to those folks, and to the unwell in their apartments, namely, Janet P., Vivian A., Holly C., Corinne B., and Art Marsh. (We are sorry to hear Ivy Angliss had to return to Minden hospital after an overnight stay at her apartment. May you soon recover Ivy and return.)

We are glad to see Len and Mabel Trodd back from Florida. They tell me they had a very pleasant winter but glad to be home again.

Corinne and Hector Arsenaault, our administrators, recently spent a few days holiday in the Sunny South. I am sure they were glad of the break from work.

Now we can synchronize our watches with "Big Ben" - the new clock on the apartment building, Staannworth Terrace. Looks good!

It was nice to hear Red Skelton on Global recently. One of his bits of humour was - "I don't really need these glasses, but at my age, it is more for curiosity than vanity." - Sound familiar?

Jean and Art Marsh, Bill D., Lillian D., and Melissa H. attended the Curling Banquet held at the Curling Arena. Jean was on the winning team of the Senior Mixed League. Lillian D. was presented with a lovely deck chair. Lil has been a volunteer at the arena for many years.

Eleanor F. and Marg H. attended the Figure Skating Carnival held at the Arena and report a very entertaining program. The performance of the guest skaters Michelle Menzies and Kevin Wheeler was beautiful to behold for its grace in motion and ease of performance. All the presentations were indeed beautiful and worthy of our applause. I feel prompted to mention the wee 2 year old one, who captured our attention and hearts. Congratulations to the committees in charge, and the performers. We shall look forward to next season.

On April 19, Toos Reid, Rose Barry and their group entertained us with beautiful sacred music. Besides being sung in harmony, their songs bore messages of peace and living in harmony. Larry VanLieshout accompanied on his accordion, Toos on her guitar, and Rose on her banjo and guitar. This choir represented the Lady of Fatima Church and St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden. Bill Donnelly thanked the choir and we hope to see them again soon.

Eleanor Pye, Lillian D., Marg H., Jean and Art Marsh attended the meeting of the Highland Sr. Summer Games at Stanhope. After a very tasty dinner prepared by the Stanhope ladies, Larry McKnight spoke to us on the subject "Dynamic Retirement Planning" and left us with much food for thought. Notices of the upcoming games will appear on our several bulletin boards. More about this meeting will appear in your local paper.

Canada Day Grants are available

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Canada Day is a special celebration to involve your whole community and that includes the private sector. Total community involvement is especially important if you want to establish a tradition of celebrating Canada Day. Through your provincial/territorial Canada Day Committee office, community groups can apply for a grant. These grants are based on the principle that such funding serves as "seed money" - money to provide start-up costs. It is not intended to be 100 per cent funding. Additional funding for Canada Day events must be obtained by each community through active solicitation. If you want your events to be successful, you should start now to develop a network of sponsors - businesses that can donate goods and services, and co-operate in special Canada Day promotions.

There is no limit to the imagination when it comes to organizing Canada Day celebrations.

There are many benefits for you, your private sector sponsors, and the community at large. Businesses involved in Canada Day celebrations earn priceless goodwill. The organizers can learn a lot from working with professionals, and everyone enjoys the excitement of working toward a common goal. Canada Day events are a great way of fostering community pride and unity.

Publicity and good preparation are the keys to success, so start now. It's never too early to begin planning for Canada Day. When you plan an event, you should have a good idea of what it will cost. Always try to make good investments. Think of past events - which were successful and which were not?

Every Canada Day celebration is dependent upon volunteers. They can be found in every walk of life and every community in Canada. They offer diverse and invaluable skills and ideas that will help make the celebration a success.

You may be surprised to find hidden talents among your neighbours. With careful planning, energy and enthusiasm, you can turn those talents to good use, and have a terrific time on Canada Day.

Each year the volunteer members of the 12 Canada Day committees freely donate their time and skills in assisting community groups, businesses and municipal and provincial governments to co-ordinate local celebrations. These individuals would be pleased to offer advice and assistance in the planning and organizing of events, provide application forms, as well as respond to any questions or concerns that you may have. The Ontario Canada Day Committee can be reached at 25 St. Clair Ave. East, Suite 200, Toronto, Ontario M4T 1M2, tel.: (416) 973-1988 (call collect).

All applications must be mailed to the Canada Day Committee and must be postmarked no later than May 15.

Certificate of Merit and a beautiful Trillium pin in appreciation of her involvement with their Auxiliary.

On April 27, we enjoyed a very tasty supper consisting of salads, cold meat plates, cheese plates and buns. A delicious birthday cake was shared with our April birthday folks, Shirley Vank, Eleanor Pye, Lillian Davidson and (Carrie and Mark Vasey who were absent). May you all enjoy many more birthdays.

Note - A Bake Sale, Some Crafts and a Mini-Market on May 20th beginning at 10:30 a.m. at Staunworth Court.

Closing Thought. Did you know the Quakers have three questions they ask themselves before entering into conversations? Is it kind? Is it true? Is it necessary. Lovely thoughts, don't you agree?

CARD OF THANKS

I should like to thank the nurses and staff of Minden Hospital and the ambulance attendants who all took care of Don Mintz. A special thank you to Dr. Antony Holliday-Rhodes and Dr. Irwin Asbell and all our friends in the community who helped. Also the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home for all their assistance and the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 636, Minden for their kindness. Thank you all.

Mrs. Patricia Mintz & Family

We would like to let our friends know Les and Audrey are back in Minden after almost 3 months. Les had a rare and unusual rejection of liver transplant done last September. He had another transplant February 24 at Toronto General. Les had several setbacks with infection and a serious bleed on our first trip back home. We want to thank staff at Minden hospital, Dwight and Randy, ambulance drivers, and Dr. Steve Dawson who accompanied Les to Toronto on a rush trip. Dr. Paul Greig and liver transplant team who all played a part in giving Les a new lease on life. All the cards, letters and phone calls were most appreciated. We are so thankful for family and friends at this stressful time - God bless you all.

The Northey Family
